Creative Wayfinding commission at Trinity Community Arts

We are looking for an artist, designer or organisation to help tell Trinity's story through the building.

This is paid project work at The Trinity Centre in Bristol.

Photo: Alastair Brookes

What is the project?

Work with the people who use Trinity to create signs and designs that share its stories and help visitors find their way.

Project budget: £15,900

This covers all creative fees, consultation, design development and delivery costs. Decoration has a separate budget.

Working with the people

What does co-design mean?

The people who use Trinity help shape the work and make design decisions with you.

You will run workshops and conversations with local people, staff, artists, partners and visitors.

Together, you will explore what Trinity means to people and which stories they want to see in the building. You will develop ideas, then test and improve the designs with the people involved.

What will you produce?

A set of designs and a plan for putting them in place. This could include signs, artwork and displays that share stories.

Who can apply?

Artists, designers, makers, architects, collectives and organisations can apply.

You need experience of working with communities and turning shared ideas into designs. Read the full brief for all requirements.

How to apply

Apply by 5pm on 25 November 2026.
Interviews will take place in the week starting 30 November

Send us: An expression of interest of up to two A4 pages. Tell us about your experience and how you would work with people.

- Your CV or organisation profile.

- Examples of relevant work and your proposal including budget breakdown.

Email your application to:
info@trinitybristol.org.uk

Full brief and support

Visit trinitybristol.org.uk/news for the full brief and application pack.

For questions, or support with access, email the address above or call 0117 935 1200.

We particularly encourage applications from people from historically marginalised backgrounds.